Why have a smoke-free home?

Second-hand smoke is very harmful to health.

- Non-smokers who live with second-hand smoke are more likely to get sick or die from serious illness such as cancer and heart disease.
- Women who live with second-hand smoke are more likely to have low-birthweight babies, pre-term delivery, and miscarriage.
- Even cats and dogs whose owners smoke have higher rates of cancer!

Second-hand smoke is especially bad for children.

When parents smoke ...

- Babies are more likely to die from Sudden Infant Death Syndrome (SIDS).
- Children have more illnesses, including ear infections and asthma.
- Teens are more likely to become smokers themselves.

Smoking damages your home and your property

- Cigarette smoke permanently damages furniture, curtains, rugs, paint, clothing, bedding, books, art and other items.
- Cigarettes can leave burn marks on furniture and rugs.
- Smoking is a leading cause of home fires.
- Insurance rates are often higher. (Check with your insurance company about lower rates for smoke-free homes.)

More and more families have rules against smoking

Even smokers are making their homes smoke-free.

- The best way to protect your family from second-hand smoke is to quit smoking, but even smokers can protect those around them.
- 2 out of 3 New York City adults — including a third of the city's smokers — have rules against smoking in their homes.

There are many advantages.

- A smoke-free home is safer and healthier.
- A smoke-free home smells better.
- A smoke-free home is easier to clean.
- A smoke-free home is easier to sell.
- A smoke-free home is more pleasant to guests – most people hate to be around second-hand smoke even for a little while.
- Having a smoke-free home makes it easier to quit smoking.

How to make your home smoke-free

Tell everyone – family, caregivers and guests.

- Tell your friends and family you don't allow smoking in your home.
- Post a "Smoke-Free Home" sign on your door. It will spare you having to tell people one-at-a-time.
- Have all the smokers you live with sign a pledge to keep your home smoke-free.
- Remove ashtrays, lighters and matches from your home.
- Have low-calorie or sugar-free gum or candy available as an alternative to smoking. Or try cutting up fresh fruit and raw vegetables for people to snack on.
- Be polite but firm. If people must smoke, insist that they do it outside.
- Thank people for helping keep your home smoke-free.
- Let them know you're rejecting the smoke, not the smoker.
- It may take hard work and a little time to get everyone to agree. Don't give up – you're doing something important!

Make your whole home smoke-free (not just a couple of rooms).

- Moving to another room, opening a window, or using a fan or air filter does NOT protect people.
- Keep your home smoke-free even when no one else is around. Second-hand smoke lingers long after a cigarette is put out.

Make your car smoke-free, too

- Set a "no smoking" policy in your car as well as your home. (Many people post signs.)
- Second-hand smoke is harmful in any enclosed space.
- Opening the car's windows or vents doesn't protect people.
- Remove the car's cigarette lighter and ashtray.
- Smoking reduces a car's resale value.
